

Rent or Christmas Presents – Tough Decision

An Army Veteran in the North Oakland County Veterans Treatment Court was faced with a difficult choice that no one would want to make. Imagine the frustration and guilt on Christmas day when there are no presents because you had to make the responsible decision to provide shelter instead of buying gifts. This may seem far fetched, but it is actually very common. Fortunately, this story has a wonderful ending thanks to the efforts of the mentors at the North Oakland County Veterans Treatment Court. They were able to find help and assistance to provide gifts to the Veteran so his son could have a Christmas that all children dream about.
