Franklinton Center At Bricks

Nestled in rural Whitakers, N.C., Franklinton Center at Bricks is a former slave plantation that was transformed into one of the first accredited schools for African Americans in the South. Today, it is a conference, retreat, and educational facility focusing on justice advocacy and leadership development.

BECAUSE YOU

DESERVE EXCEPTIONAL

HEALTH CARE

RIGHT HERE, CLOSE TO YOU

Being a true system of care means more than simply providing health care services. It means bringing better health and wellness directly to you, close to home.

In Tarboro and Edgecombe County, our multispecialty clinic provides access to the services you need, including cancer, rehabilitation, and obstetrics and gynecology.

Because our goal isn't just to treat disease, but to prevent it in the first place. And that improves the lives of everyone in eastern North Carolina.

Visit VidantHealth.com/Edgecombe to learn more. Or call 855-MY-VIDANT (1-855-698-4326) for an appointment with a doctor near you.

350TH Anniversary of North Carolina

Baron Richard Edgecombe

In 1668, four precincts were formed out of the County of Albemarle, the first governmental unit of what would become North Carolina. These four precincts (now counties) – Currituck, Pasquotank, Perquimans and Chowan – were later subdivided further, giving rise to what we now think of as northeastern North Carolina, the Albemarle Region. In 2018, our Region and Edgecombe County will celebrate the 350th anniversary of this founding through a variety of commemorative activities including a passport stamp book.

Since its founding in 1967, Edgecombe Community College has been committed to fulfilling the education, training, and cultural needs of the Edgecombe County community and surrounding areas.

With campuses in Tarboro and Rocky Mount, the college serves about 13,000 individuals annually in its early college program, two-year degree, diploma, certificate, and continuing education programs. Excellent teaching and learning coupled with student achievement have characterized the college throughout its history.

In January of 2016, health sciences students began classes in the new Biotechnology and Medical Simulation Center on the Rocky Mount campus. The cornerstone of the new high-tech facility is a simulated hospital where students work in teams to assess and treat simulated patients.
