

There are numerous forms required when filing a dissolution of marriage where there are minor children. The Court of Common Pleas does not provide forms for this. Although we do not require that an attorney file this type of case for you, we highly recommend it. If all the required forms are not filed, or if the paperwork is not filed correctly, the matter may be dismissed and you risk losing your deposit.