

I have lived in Meadowlakes approximately two and a half years. I graduated from the University of Houston School Of Law in 1990 with a Juris Doctorate and have a Masters of Law from Kings College, London. While practicing law in the Dallas/Fort Worth area, I worked both in private practice and in a corporate setting. My main field of expertise was the transfer of technology, with an emphasis on contract drafting and negotiating. As corporate counsel, I had the opportunity to expand my experience to include employee matters, real estate transactions, immigration issues and insurance provisions.

Both of my children were born in Texas and I am blessed with four grandchildren. My octogenarian aunt, who many of you already know as Aunt B, lives with me along with my fur babies. We enjoy our daily dog walks and visiting with other walkers as we go. We love that our neighborhood is friendly and that we genuinely care about each other.

I believe Meadowlakes has challenges ahead. I believe we all live downstream and that we are affected by the actions of others outside of Meadowlakes. While we certainly want to act locally, we need a seat at the table in regard to those activities that affect us. As many of you know, we have been in a drought since 2000, Marble Falls has enforced water restrictions and sand plants are planned for Lake LBJ. Water supply is a huge concern and yet, thousands of houses are planned near us without new water sources. It is necessary for us to protect our precious resources and be a part of future planning.

Additionally, Meadowlakes is planning an extensive building project, including new buildings and a pool. While we hired private attorneys to assist us in the necessary contracts, the contracts will require additional negotiations because unforeseen issues will arise. It is also important that the needs of our citizens are considered to avoid as much disruption of the use of our facilities as possible.

I believe I can add value to the Meadowlakes City Council and assist with our future challenges. I feel passionately about protecting our community and I believe my experiences as an attorney will be of assistance. I would appreciate your vote for position 4.
