Opening the doors of a new library

A grand opening celebration for the new Columbia Heights Public Library will take place Saturday, June 25, from noon to 4 p.m. The new library is located at 3939 Central Ave. NE.

City is a finalist for national award

The City of Columbia Heights has been selected as a finalist for the prestigious All-America City Award! This national award is given to only 10 communities each year in recognition of their accomplishments in addressing local challenges. The National Civic League's focus this year is on communities that have taken innovative action to engage residents in ensuring that all children are healthy and supported to succeed in school and life.

"Columbia Heights is a community with a strong spirit of cooperation and collaboration between its residents, businesses, faith organizations, government and school district," said Mayor Gary Peterson. "This ability to respect differences and work with one another to develop innovative solutions to problems is a great strength of our City."

Funding sought for Peace Park community service and recreation initiative

The year 2015 was important in the progress of community oriented policing and service for the Columbia Heights Police Department. After some events occurred in the Circle Terrace Neighborhood, city leaders realized the need for improved connections between the neighborhood and governing agencies. This was a neighborhood within Columbia Heights that wasn't being provided with the opportunity to reach its full potential. The police department reached out to the Circle Terrace Neighborhood by going doorto-door with a survey to gauge interest about possible community, recreational and social services that could be provided.

The parade is always a highlight of the Jamboree. It will take place from 6-8 p.m. on Friday, June 24. It begins at 45th and Central Avenue and proceeds south to 40th Avenue, ending at 5th St. Look for floats, marching bands, fire engines, people you know and some surprises.

The application highlighted three community projects that demonstrate these qualities and how they positively impact our youth. These projects captured the attention of the National Civic League and resulted in Columbia Heights being named a finalist.

The partnership between the City and the Columbia Heights Public School District resulted in construction of the Hylander Center gym complex, implementation of additional after-school programs by the Columbia Heights Police and Recreation Departments, and additional adult education programs.

The City of Peace Park has a history of community and youth involvement and collaboration. A great example of this is the student-designed Heritage Tower of Peace. This collaboration is continuing with the City of Peace Park in the Circle Terrace neighborhood, where neighborhood members were instrumental in determining whether a community building would be of value to them and how it would be used.

The City's new library shows that the collaboration between the City and its residents and patrons of the library is second to none. From involving local teens in the planning of the library spaces to the residents voting on the bond referendum, the collaboration of all facets of the community shines through.

In June, the City is hoping to send a delegation of 20-30 residents, including youth, seniors and businesses, to Denver to present our story and explain our programs to a jury of nationally recognized leaders. At this event, the National Civic League will select the 10 All-America City Award recipients. The winning cities and finalists experience heightened regional, state, and national attention and a proven boost for the recruitment of industry, jobs, and investment in the area.

"We are excited to have the opportunity to spread the news at the national level about the great community we live in and the significant accomplishments of those who live and work here," said Peterson.

The full application can be viewed at www.ci.columbia-heights. mn.us/DocumentCenter/View/2326

A Columbia Heights delegation will be going to Denver to make a presentation to the the National Civic League in June. The group will include 25 delegates including youth, senior citizens and others. The goal is to raise about $15,000 to support their trip.

To help, please:

- Attend the City's Fundraiser on Friday, May 20, from 6-10 p.m. for bands, dancing, food and a silent auction at the Public Safety Center, 825 41st Ave. NE.
- Contribute whatever you wish. Please make your checks payable to: "Columbia Heights Activity Fund-All America City Award" and send to City of Columbia Heights, Attn: City Clerk, 590 40th Ave. NE, Columbia Heights, MN 55421
- Donate through a GoFundMe page at www.gofundme. com/CHAllAmericaCity

City seeks residents to be election judges

Interested in being an election judge? The City of Columbia Heights will be holding both a Primary and General Election in 2016 and will need election judges at polling places.

Being an election judge has many rewards. It gives you the opportunity to be involved in your community, allows you to help others, and it is a great learning experience.

To be an election judge:

- You must be eligible to vote in Minnesota and be able to read, write and speak English.
- You must complete an election judge training course (at least two hours).
- You can choose to volunteer or be paid. Columbia Heights judges earn $10.50 per hour. (Student judges, ages 16 and 17 years old, earn $6.75 per hour.)
- You can have time off from work because employers are required to give employees time off to serve as election judges (MN Statute 204B.195.)

If interested, please contact City Clerk Katie Bruno at (763) 706-3611 or kbruno@columbiaheightsmn.gov. Applications are available at www.columbiaheightsmn.gov.

Show off your city pride with new branded items

Columbia Heights began a rebranding campaign in 2014 to re-envision the city's identity and promote its positive aspects, history and unique character both locally and throughout the greater metro area.

In 2015, a new logo depicting the Clock Tower of Peace was selected along with the tagline: "Rediscover the Heights."

Now you can show your civic pride while you casually sip coffee, tea, or another preferred beverage using your new mug branded with the city's new logo. They are available for $10 each at Murzyn Hall, 530 Mill Street.

In addition, eight different 11x17 landmark posters are available as well! Each print costs $15 each or you can purchase all eight for $100. View the color posters on the city's website.

These items are the first of several city-themed items that will be released for sale. Additional items will be available over time. Be a part of rediscovering the Heights by showing your community pride!

Based on survey results and many discussions, a proposal developed to construct a community service and recreation building on the lots adjacent to the playground to help meet the neighborhood's needs. The project would also include renovating the playground to promote community use of the park.

The proposal received unanimous support from the city's Parks and Recreation Committee and City Council so city leaders connected with important stakeholders in the community, who also lent their voice in support of this initiative. Soon after, Mayor Gary Peterson, City Manager Walt Fehst, Chief of Police Scott Nadeau, and Community Development Director Joe Hogeboom met with Congressman, State Senators, and U.S. Attorneys to discuss funding opportunities and programming for this venture.

The initiative is currently waiting on federal funding. Once funding has been approved, the City of Peace Park will hopefully break ground by summer of 2016, with completion tentatively scheduled for Fall of the same year. Once the building has been built, it will be filled with opportunities such as parenting classes, adult and youth educational classes, first aid and safety training, health and social services, parks and recreation events, picnics and other outdoor activities, and various other programs all aimed at ensuring that everyone in Columbia Heights has the opportunity to succeed.

In the meantime, the Columbia Heights Police Department has started a Multi-Cultural Advisory Committee (MAC) comprised of local leaders of various cultural and ethnic backgrounds. This committee will work with the City of Columbia Heights and the police department to ensure that the City of Peace Park provides the necessary educational, recreational and social services that would best suit the needs of these diverse communities, and also to expand outreach on all levels of the community.

"Columbia Heights intends to stay true to its City of Peace mission and to 'exemplify the promotion of peace by creating and administering the means to enhance the lives of others by offering fair, ethical, and generous practices to all people, no matter their race, culture, or creed so we can all live together in peace in our communities," said Sergeant Justin Pletcher, who adds, "There's a famous saying that says, 'If you build it, they will come' so we're doing just that. We look forward to seeing all of you at the City of Peace Park later this year, and for many years to follow."

If you have questions about the City of Peace Park initiative or MAC, please contact Sergeant Justin Pletcher of the Columbia Heights Police Department at JPletcher@columbiaheightsmn.gov.

Other Jamboree highlights include the Lions Beer Garden from 5 p.m. to close each day, the Heights Idol competition at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 25, softball tournaments and the carnival.

In addition to returning favorite activities and events, some new ones will be added. There will be a new inflatable obstacle course along with the climbing tower provided by the Army National Guard. Also new is a free drop-in Garden Art Class for the whole family from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on Saturday, June 25, at Murzyn Hall.

Fireworks will take place at dusk on Saturday, June 25 (or Sunday, June 26, if it rains on Saturday).

Whether this is your first Jamboree, or the 60th one you've attended, enjoy this wonderful community event and make some new summer memories!

Look for a complete Jamboree schedule in the recreation section of this newsletter. You can also go to the city's website at www.columbiaheightsmn.gov or call the Jamboree hotline at (763) 706-3789.

Grills cause house fires so use yours safely

Three out of five households own a gas grill, which translates to a lot of tasty meals. But it also means there's an increased risk of home fires.

An average of 8,800 home fires are caused each year by grilling, and close to half of all injuries involving grills are due to thermal burns, according to the National Fire Protection Association. One of every six home structure fires involving grills started because something that could catch fire, like a dish towel, oven mitt, or food packaging, was too close to the heat.

Prevent grill fires by following a few simple summer safety precautions and guidelines enjoy delicious grilled meals all season long. As you prepare to light up your grill, be sure to:

- Use propane and charcoal grills outdoors only.
- Place the grill well away from your home, deck railings and out from under eaves and overhanging branches.
- Put safety rules for kids in place. Keep children and pets at least three feet away from the grill area.
- Clean your grill often, removing any grease or fat buildup from the grates and in the trays below.
- Stay next to your grill at all times while cooking; never leave the area unattended.

Recreational fires require permits and have requirements

A fire permit is required for ANY kind of open outside burning with the exception of barbecue grills. (This includes enclosed wire mesh fire pits and clay pot fire pits.). There are two permit options:

- 1. Daily permit is free of charge (up to nine per year) and good for the date on the permit only.
- 2. Annual permit costs $20 and is good until the end of December in the year issued.

To obtain a permit, an adult (18 years or older) must come in person to the fire station between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. The permit must be onsite while the fire is burning and all rules must be followed. Open burning of grass, leaves, cardboard, garbage, etc. is not allowed in the City of Columbia Heights.

Recreational fire requirements are:

- A connected garden hose or other means of extinguishment must be readily available.
- All fire rings or pits must be located a minimum of 25 feet away from any structures such as houses, garages and sheds. Manufactured enclosed freestanding fire pits must be located a minimum of 10 feet away from any structures such as houses, garages and sheds.
- Only clean, dry firewood may be burned (no leaves, building materials, plastics, etc.).
- Police and Fire Department officers are authorized to require that a recreational fire be immediately extinguished and discontinued if it is determined that the fire is not in compliance with the above rules, the smoke is offensive to nearby neighbors, or the burning is determined to constitute a hazardous condition.
- Recreational fires are not permitted on windy days when the smoke may create a nuisance for nearby neighbors.
- The fire must be constantly attended and supervised by an adult until the fire has been completely extinguished.
- The fire must be contained in a manufactured freestanding fire pit or ring or pit not exceeding three feet in diameter.

The State Fire Code does not allow the use of barbecue grills, recreational fire devices, torches or anything that causes an open flame, on any balcony above ground level and on any ground floor patio within 15 feet of the building in properties that contain three or more units. The code also doesn't allow the storage of barbecue grills, torches etc., and lighting chemicals in these same areas.

New senior housing coming to Columbia Heights

Dominium has submitted plans for a proposed senior housing apartment called Lily Gables to be located at the vacant site directly northeast of the University Avenue NE and 37th Avenue NE intersection in Columbia Heights. Dominium is one of the country's largest affordable housing development and management companies offering creative and innovative housing solutions for communities.

The developer is proposing a 191 unit, independent senior living apartment that will provide affordable housing for residents over the age 55 who earn no more than 60% of the Area Median Income (AMI). The apartment building will consist of one, two and three-bedroom units.

Here are rates for the different types of rental units:

| Unit Type | # of Units | Rents |
|------------------------|------------|--------|
| 1 Bedroom / 1 Bathroom | 74 | $ 919 |
| 2 Bedroom / 2 Bathroom | 45 | $1100 |
| 3 Bedroom / 2 Bathroom | 72 | $1270 |

Dominium provides onsite amenities including a theatre, salon, library, fitness facility, club room, cards and craft room, nurse station, outdoor patio terrace with a fire pit and grilling stations.

Construction will begin this summer with plans for the building to be substantially finished by Dec. 31, 2017. Look for construction updates throughout the year.

SCI member represents Heights at Lomianki ceremony

Gregory Logacz, as a representative of the Columbia Heights Sister Cities, International (SCI) group, was invited to give a speech at the WW II commemorative ceremony on Sept. 20 in Lomianki, Poland, the Sister City of Columbia Heights. The ceremony honors the Poles and Americans who lost their lives. His talk reflected on the Poles' historic opposition to tyranny and the country's standing in contemporary Europe.

Then, Logacz and wife Sandra were guests of the spectacular re-enactment of the 1939 Battle for Lomianki. Tanks, airplanes, horses and hundreds of people in period costumes/uniforms participated. "This was a sensational depiction of this tragic event," he said.

Another highlight was a visit to the Lomianki City Council meeting to observe Polish democracy in action at a local level, very much like Columbia Heights' City Council meetings.

They also toured The Pociechom Foundation, a mental health organization that uses horses as therapy for children with physical and emotional problems. They charge no fees or tuition, depending solely on grants and private donations. "We were very impressed and hope that our Columbia Heights SCI group will continue to support this excellent humanitarian endeavor," said Logacz.

The couple spent two weeks traveling through southern Poland visiting visual and historic delights, such as Kazimierz, Kozlowska, Zamosc, Sandomierz and the castle/estate of Landcut.

In Krakow they toured the city, market square, Old Town and the cathedral where giants of Polish history such as Sobieski, Kosciuszko, Pilsudski and members of Jagielonian dynasty are entombed. On the way back to Warsaw they stopped at Wadowice, the birthplace of Pope John Paul II and probably the spiritual center of the contemporary Polish Catholic Church. They toured his home which is now a museum.

They stayed several days with Kasia Sienkiewicz, a teacher, who lives in Dobina, a northern suburb of Warsaw and experienced day-to-day life of a middle-class family. According to Logacz, staying with her and husband Tomasz and meeting their neighbors was an educational and enriching experience.

"For most people a trip to Poland would be an interesting trip, but for Sandra and me, it was much more — a trip of exploration, discovery and delight," he said.

Members of the Columbia Heights SCI group are looking forward to welcoming four visitors from Lomianki to Columbia Heights in August. This will include the mayor, chief of police and two police officers. It's the second half of an exchange that began when Columbia Heights Police Chief Scott Nadeau and officers went to Lomianki last year.

City achieves 88% of 1st quarter recycling goal

Thanks to Columbia Heights residents, a total of 372 tons of materials have been recycled so far this year, as of March 31. Diverting the reusable material from the trash saved the City's refuse fund over $26,000 in trash disposal fees. This is notable but 12% less than anticipated for the first quarter. The Anoka County SCORE (Select Committee on Recycling and the Environment) goal increased to 1,894 tons for 2016. The good news is that each household only needs to recycle 52 pounds each month to meet the year-end goal.

Maintenance projects are underway

Here's an update on two major public works projects now underway in Columbia Heights.

Water tower:

The city has one 250,000 gallon water tower located at 4650 Stinson Boulevard. The last major renovation to the water tower was done in 1996. Major maintenance has begun that involves removing the paint on the exterior and interior of the steel water tank, making repairs to the steel, and installing a new coating system on both the interior and exterior of the tank.

Stinson Boulevard reconstruction:

The complete reconstruction of Stinson Boulevard from 37th Avenue to Silver Lane is in process and includes replacing the concrete surface with a new bituminous surface, new water main, new storm sewer, an eight-foot wide trail, and new street lighting. In addition, CenterPoint Energy will begin replacing existing gas main along the east side of Stinson Boulevard.

Info about preventing storm water pollution will be presented June 1

Do you know rainwater flows to the storm water drainage system, which is generally located along street curbs? This means anything you put on your lawn, sidewalk, driveway or parking lot will end up with the storm water. The storm water system drains this runoff to ponds, lakes, streams and rivers. Pollutants in this water will affect wildlife and our recreation areas. Special concerns include phosphorus fertilizers, petroleum products, salt, other chemicals, garbage and sediments from erosion. Federal and State environmental laws have resulted in more stringent regulations concerning pollution from storm water systems. Local governments may incur large fines if they do not have an active program to reduce storm water pollution.

INFORMATION ABOUT STORM WATER WILL BE PROVIDED AT THE CITY OF COLUMBIA HEIGHTS COMMUNITY PICNIC ON JUNE 1, 2016 AT HUSET PARK. The Public Works Department conducts a required public informational session on our SWPPP (Storm Water Pollution Prevention Program) annually. Columbia Heights has developed a SWPPP plan in response to Federal and State regulations concerning the quality of water entering streams, rivers, and lakes from storm water drainage systems. At this event the public will have the opportunity to give input and comments on the SWPPP.

Water quality report is available

A copy of the Consumer Confidence Report is available on the city's website at http://www.columbiaheightsmn.gov/DocumentCenter/View/1817, or customers can call (763) 706-3700 to request a paper copy.

ALERT County remains under quarantine for emerald ash borer

The Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA) has confirmed an emerald ash borer (EAB) infestation in Anoka County since the bugs were found in an ash tree in Ham Lake.

Residents are encouraged to look at their ash trees for signs of EAB. Checking for EAB, reporting possible infestations, and following quarantines can slow the spread of the bugs.

When checking for emerald ash borer look for the following:

Be sure you've identified an ash tree. This is an important first step since EAB only feeds on ash trees.

Look for woodpecker damage. Woodpeckers like EAB larvae and woodpecker holes may indicate the presence of EAB.

Check for bark cracks. EAB larvae tunneling under the bark can cause the bark to split open, revealing the larval (S-shaped) tunnels underneath.

Contact a professional. If you feel your ash tree may be infested with EAB, contact a tree care professional, your city forester, or the MDA at arrest.the.pest@state.mn.us or (888) 545-6684.

The quarantine is designed to limit the movement of any items that may be infested with EAB, including ash trees and ash tree limbs, as well as all hardwood firewood.

The biggest risk of spreading EAB comes from people unknowingly moving firewood or other ash products harboring larvae. Below are three easy steps to keep EAB from spreading:

Don't transport firewood. Buy firewood locally from approved vendors, and burn it where you buy it.

Be aware of the quarantine restrictions. If you live in a quarantined county, be aware of the restrictions on movement of products such as ash trees, wood chips and firewood.

Watch your ash trees for infestation. If you think your ash tree is infested, go to www.mda.state.mn.us/eab or the Columbia Heights website at http://www.columbiaheightsmn.gov/index. aspx?nid=247.
