Your pipes are at risk of freezing during the winter months. Freeze damage isn't only confined to your pipes, your sewer lines are also susceptible to freezing. When it does occur, the pipes can burst or can close down a drain system. Proper insulation is essential to avoid such inconveniences.

Insulate pipes that will be exposed in freezing temperatures. Pay special attention to those that are located in outdoor areas. Instead of polythene foam insulation, use standard fiberglass wall insulation. This will provide more protection when insulating PVC sewer pipes.

Meet One of Your Commissioners: Kevin Kosche

Kevin is part of a five generation family residing in Lake Stevens. He graduated from Lake Stevens High School in 1987, graduated with a degree in Finance from Central Washington University in 1991, married his wife Christy in 1992, celebrated the birth of their daughter in 2000 and has been an active leader at Life-Point Church since 1999. Kevin's work life has encompassed everything from a mower of lawns, to part-time retail sales, to VP / GM of Product Development, to Chief Operating Officer. The most cherished parts of the personal, or professional opportunities he has been involved with, are the relationships formed over a common interest or goal. His spare time is spent enjoying family and friends, working on cars, tinkering with jet skis, playing basketball, water skiing on our beloved lake, noodling how to solve a problem, reading and finding a quiet place to ponder life. Thank you Kevin for your commitment to better Lake Stevens!

Mission: Meeting the challenge of protecting the environment and providing quality sewer service to the community
