The Life of Martin McLeod

McLeod County is rich in history that must be preserved and it is important to note the history of the man for whom our county was named, thus, from a letter written by George A. McLeod (Martin's brother) of which the original can be seen at the Minnesota Historical Society.. it gives insight on their family. He writes and I quote from a letter dated February 2, 1851 in part as follows: "I saw our Father and Mother and our sister, Margaret a few days since when on my way up from Montreal...I also heard from Norman while in Montreal, where he has a large Congregation, he has been in ill health for some time, but I am pleased to learn that his health is now good; our brother John is well and doing well, you should write to him; I have not heard lately from our sister, Elizabeth mentioning over the names of our family, brings my memory back to our early school days and to L'Orignal it is now thirteen years since I left L'Orignal and in that time what an amazing change has taken place. "It goes on to say things about their home town. There are letters Martin McLeod wrote to his mother, sister, and other family members, it tells of the plans of his siblings, coming to Minnesota, however, here I will only touch on some of the highlights.

John & Janet McLeod (Martin's parents) were born in Scotland and moved to Canada where they became the parents of 7 children. Let it be known that Martin McLeod was born August 30, 1813 at L'Orignal, Ontario, Canada, he spent his boyhood days there and was given a liberal education, attended the McGill University in Montreal...at age 23 worked as a bookkeeper for a wholesale house when his adventurous spirit enticed this French speaking Canadian to leave Montreal on July 17, 1836 and joined a General James Dickson at Buffalo, New York on October 1; part of Dickson's plan was to establish an Indian State. In part the route of Martin McLeod's travel were as follows:

On October 22, 1836 he entered what is now Minnesota from Lake Superior by canoe, (at this time his point of entry was Wisconsin Territory) he traveled a good part of the way on foot and stopped at Fort Garry December 20 - February 26, 1837 to wait for Spring. On March 21 they stayed at the Lake Traverse Trading Post until April 5 and traveled by cart following the north side of the river all the way to the Traverse des Sioux trading Post and three days later they reached Fort Snelling by canoe on April 16, 1837. McLeod endured wet, cold, fatigue, and hunger to the extent he had to eat one of his dogs to survive, and writes in his diary about the snowdrifts, lost companions, frostbite - his feet were blistered, he writes "the blood oozes through my moccasins"... his brave adventures and hardships are documented in his diary at the MHS.

After his arrival at Fort Snelling Henry Hastings Sibley persuaded Martin McLeod to work for the American Fur Company as a clerk and bookkeeper and he traded with the Indians for about three years.

Around the time of his marriage, he left Henry H. Sibley's employ and established his own Fur Trading Posts...he had posts in several places including Lac Qui Parle, Big Stone Lake, and Lake Traverse. It was later, that he also had a fur trading post at Traverse des Sioux. Changes in fashion play a part of the trading posts closing because the beaver hats went out of style in favor of silk hats.

About 1838 Martin McLeod was married to Mary Elizabeth Ortley near Fort Snelling by the Rev. Gideon Pond. Mrs. Mary Ortley McLeod and four children are listed as beneficiaries under the 1851 Treaty of Traverse des Sioux and received twelve hundred fifty dollars. Martin & Mary Elizabeth Ortley McLeod had six children, Namely, Walter Scott born at Iowa Territory as it was known then April 16, 1841; John George born at St. Peter in June, 1843 and died in July 1843, Mary Elizabeth born in July 1844 at Big Stone Lake; Janet born January 1848 at Lac qui parle; Isabella born May 1851 and a child died in infancy.

Martin McLeod was intelligent, quick-witted, loved to read and sagacious. He served the Territorial Council in 1849, and 1851 serving District 7 and in 1852 - 1853 he was President of the Territorial Council serving District 6. In 1849 he was a charter member in the establishment of the historical society as it is known today. His youngest daughter, Isabella, had the foresight to donate his papers to MHS.

In 1849, in the first territorial legislative session, he laid the foundation for a comprehensive school system for the territory. The bill, referred to as the "Act to Establish and Maintain Common Schools," authorized a tax of one fourth of a percent, and made the schools open free to all persons between the ages of four and twenty-one. Martin McLeod was a remarkable man. While overseeing his trading posts and serving the legislature, Martin McLeod acquired land in Oak Grove along the way. In 1849 the McLeod family moved to Oak Grove and built a beautiful home on the Minnesota river bluffs where he died November 20, 1860, In 1855, his brother, Rev. Norman McLeod suggested he donate four acres of his land to be used for a church and burial ground, on which Martin McLeod (died in 1860 at age 47) and most of his family is buried. In the same year the Presbyterian Church of Oak Grove was built and dedicated in January 1856.

May 17, 1855 - a party of investors and explorers headed by Col. John Harrington Stevens left St. Anthony in search of a new town site westward through the "Big Woods." The morning of the second day, May 18, they were joined by Martin McLeod, who was to guide them through the wilderness to the promise land; this brought them to a brook near where the village of Carver now stands. May 19 we continued a difficult journey through the big woods, it was a toilsome task to clear the way for the teams and most of them were unaccustomed to swinging the axe, and unused to felling trees, before noon all hands were blistered, twilight came and we had only traveled eight miles. A destructive fire earlier had swept across a portion of the timber land over which we traveled, this fire left scars upon the larger trees.

In crossing the burnt area every step taken, and every blow of the axe was accompanied by a shower of soot blacker than rich soil of the region. We camped for the night on the shores of what is now known as Lake Benton. On the evening of May 20 we camped by a lake... (today known as Tiger Lake). Early May 21, 1855 we found an Indian trail and followed it through the forest to the prairie from the dense, shady native woods to the open smooth, sunny plains, the change was so sudden, and the contrast so great, that a new world of wondrous beauty seemed open to our view. The orders of the northwestern open country called by the red men Ta-tonka-ka-ga-pi, or the home of the buffalo. From the foliage overhead, trembling in the breeze, with glimpses of blue sky beyond, we had come to a groundwork of living green overtopped with bright, delicate flower's that gratefully yielded to caresses of the gentle zephyrs that wafted their fragrance to us, as we stood with uncovered heads, enchanted by our first view of the lonely, lovely wilderness, now first visited by the white men for settlement, here on the peninsula-shaped prairie that extended into the timber near the banks of Buffalo Creek they founded the town site of Glencoe.

They divided up parcels of land and formed a town site company. Martin McLeod never lived in McLeod County however he owned many parcels of land here. It has been stated that he raised potatoes and turnips on land belonging to Col. John Stevens who lived on a farm on the west edge of Glencoe near where the Haukos business is located and once was a part of the Mielke family farm. An early issue of a Glencoe newspaper ran an article that states and I quote, "McLeod was at no time a resident of the county." He owned land, therefore, his name was on several abstracts, however, he never built a home here; and another issue states that he has land for sale 150 lots or 6 shares in the town of Glencoe, McLeod County.

A fine farm near Glencoe, 20 acres fenced and improved; three farms in the vicinity of Glencoe, no improvements; 250 acres of excellent land, beautifully situated on "McLeod Lake" adjoining Kaerns (Karns) City; and two shares in Cedar City, McLeod County.

McLeod County Demographic & Economic Profile

Demographic Characteristics

With 35,942 people in 2014, McLeod County is now the 29th largest county out of 87 counties in the state of Minnesota. After gaining 1,753 people over the last decade, a 5.0% increase, it was the 31st fastest growing county in the state. In comparison, the state of Minnesota gained about 385,000 people from 2000 to 2010, a 7.8% increase. McLeod County's recent growth is part of a long-term trend. Over the last half century, McLeod County welcomed 12,250 people (+50.2%), from 24,401 people in 1960 to 36,651 people in 2010. In comparison, Minnesota grew 55.4% over the last 50 years.

According to the data from the American Community Survey, McLeod County has a slightly older population than the state of Minnesota. About 32% of the population was under 25 years of age, as compared to 33.2% in the state. Despite the presence of a 2-year post secondary institution, McLeod County has a slightly lower percentage of young adults in the 15 to 24-year old (11.6%) age group than the state (13.4%). With a median age of 39 years in 2010, about 39.2% of McLeod County's population was in their prime working years, of 24 to 54 years of age, as compared to 40.8% statewide. McLeod County has a slightly higher percentage of people in the 55 and older (28.8%) compared to the state (26.2%).

Despite the county's steady population growth, the size of McLeod County's labor has been volatile over the last decade. With 19,808 available workers in 2014, McLeod County lost about 50 workers since 2004, when it had 19,858 workers, a -0.3% decrease. In comparison, Minnesota's labor force grew 3.3% from 2004 to 2014, a gain of just under 94,000 workers. Unfortunately, the number of unemployed workers went up over the last 10 years, leading to higher unemployment rates in the county. After some significant layoffs, McLeod County's rate peaked at 9.5% in 2009, before falling back to 4.5% in 2014. By October of 2015 the rate has dropped below the state rate..

About 45.4% of McLeod County working residents both lived and worked within the county. With Hutchinson as a regional employment center, workers drive in from surrounding counties including Meeker, Renville, Sibley, and Wright Counties. At the same time, residents from McLeod County also drive to other counties for work, primarily the Twin Cities metro area. Travel times in McLeod County are relatively short in comparison with other Twin Cities metro fringe counties, with almost half (45%) of the workers commuting less than 15 minutes one way in 2014, but 16.2% of workers driving 45 minutes or more.

Industry Employment Characteristics

Through 2014, McLeod County was home to 979 business establishments with 16,761 covered jobs, paying out average annual wages of $40,918. McLeod County also had 2,391 non-employer establishments in 2013 as well as 966 farms in 2012, according to the U.S. Census Bureau and the 2012 Census of Agriculture

Of the 16 main industry sector in McLeod County, nine gained jobs and seven lost jobs between 2013 and 2014. Manufacturing was the largest industry in McLeod County, providing over three in every ten jobs (32%) and gained the largest number of jobs over the year, adding 231 net jobs, for a growth rate of 4.5%. Manufacturing now has 5,351 jobs in the county and 86 business establishments.

Health care and social assistance was the second largest industry on McLeod County, with about 2,832 jobs at 97 service providers. After gaining jobs even during the recession, the sector shed 126 jobs between 2013 and 2014.

Retail trade was the next largest sector, providing 2,133 jobs at 140 establishments, also feeling massive job loses of 116 from 2013 to 2014. Similarly, the related accommodation food services industry shed 31 jobs, for a growth rate of -2.6%.

The educational services sector is also a large employing industry in the county, providing 996 jobs at 13 institutions, both elementary and secondary schools and postsecondary institutions.

Other important industries in McLeod County included the public administration, with 665 jobs in 25 institutions. The fastest growth in employment was in real estate and leasing industry with a 11.8% increase.

Biscay: The village of Biscay is situated in Hassan Valley. Historically it will be renowned as the site of the first creamery in the state of Minnesota.

Brownton: Brownton came into being in 1878. It received its name from Captain Alonzo Brown in honor of his brother Charles who died in the battle of Corinth, during the Civil War.

Glencoe: Glencoe was founded in 1855. John Harrington Stevens, the founder and Martin McLeod as guide set out exploring. After five days they came to a prairie, It was here on Buffalo Creek they settled “the prairie peninsula in the big woods” as the site of Glencoe. It was the first settlement in McLeod County.

Hutchinson: In September of 1855, three Hutchinson brothers, John, Judson, and Asa, began singing their way to Kansas. At Rockford, Illinois they met an old New England acquaintance, W.W. Pendargast who had visited Minnesota. They traveled and on November 19th, they reached the top of a hill and saw a sparkling winding river with gentle rolling prairie land. They ended their journey and on November 21st they traveled to Glencoe to establish the Hutchinson Townsite Company.

Lester Prairie: Lester Prairie is the youngest village in McLeod County. The first settlers arrived in 1856. The village was practically destroyed by the Sioux Uprising of 1862. On April 10, 1897, the Crow River and Buffalo Creek went on a rampage and Lester Prairie was washed away.

Plato: Plato is one of the thriving smaller cities of McLeod County. In 1888, the town filed the petition for incorporation. It lies in the heart of one of the most prosperous farming districts in the state.

Silver Lake: In 1874, a few houses had been built in the town known as Freemont. John J. Jerabek, John Mimms, and John S. Totusek bought a store from Theodore Mimms in 1881 and laid out the townsite of Silver Lake.

Stewart: After founding Hutchinson and Glencoe, home seekers began to venture south and west. There were two outstanding reasons for the later settlement around Stewart. The first being the timbered lands where fuel and wood for buildings was accessible. The second, the settlers were closer to the main avenue of communications, steamboat traffic.

Winsted: The village of Winsted was founded on July 30, 1857 when Eli Lewis purchased the land north of Main Avenue from Baptiste Campbell, a half Sioux Indian. The County Commissioners gave the name of Winsted to the town on April 5, 1858, after a vote was taken in the township.
