Subject: Interesting downtown parking strategy

Dear Brian and Karen,

I had an interesting parking experience in downtown Woodstock last week that I wanted to share with you as good for thought.

Woodstock uses ParkMobile meters for downtown street parking. Failure to pay results in a $10 parking ticket (I didn't see the sign or the meter!!). But, as you can see on the ticket (pic attached), they will waive the fine with a "validation" from any downtown business.

I thought this was a very business-friendly and customer-friendly way to deal with downtown parking!

Best,
Dave
