

THE SCOTT ADMINISTRATION HOLDS ITS 6th “CAPITOL FOR A DAY” IN ADDISON COUNTY

WHAT: Governor Phil Scott and members of his Administration will bring their “Capitol for a Day” initiative to Addison County on Tuesday, September 11.

The group will begin the day honoring those who died on September 11, 2001 with the Addison County Firefighters’ Association (ACFA) Honor Guard. Following those events, the Administration will spend the day throughout Addison County, meeting with area constituents, lawmakers, local partners and state employees.

“It’s been great meeting with so many people throughout the state who don’t have an opportunity to travel to Montpelier,” said Governor Scott. “By bringing state government to different regions, we’re able to learn directly from the people about their challenges, and the opportunities they see. It’s so critical that we focus on helping all corners of the state, and that means getting out there and listening to and learning from those you don’t see every day.”

The Administration has visited Rutland, Caledonia, Windsor, Franklin and Bennington counties and aims to visit each of the state’s 14 counties throughout 2018.
