Council approves scooter pilot project

By Stephen Mills Staff Writer Oct 11, 2018

A Bird electric scooter is displayed in the Montpelier City Council chamber Wednesday after Councilor Conor Casey, center, proposed a pilot project to bring the scooters to the city.

MONTPELIER — A pilot program to promote electric scooters is expected to create quite a buzz in the Capital City next week.

While the scooters buzz around the city – albeit silently – there is likely to be a more audible buzz as locals weigh in about the alternative transport option that will be tested over a 60-day trial period.
