Town of Mooresville Releases 2024 Drinking Water Quality Report

The Town of Mooresville has released the 2024 Drinking Water Quality Report. The report shows there have been no significant detections of monitored contaminants set forth by regulatory agencies. The Town conducts regular in-house testing as well as third-party testing to ensure the water residents and visitors receive is a quality product they can rely on for drinking or use.

The Town's water supply comes from Lake Norman and is routinely monitored for more than 150 potential contaminants, including microbials (such as viruses and bacteria) and inorganics (such as salts and metals), before the water is distributed to residents, businesses, parks, and other establishments.

The 2024 Drinking Water Quality Report shows, among other things, that there was one detection of Coliform Bacteria, and no detections of E.Coli, nor any contaminants typically associated with pesticides or herbicides.

Mooresville participates in UCMR5 along with many other utilities across the nation to test for contaminants that are not yet regulated by the EPA or North Carolina. Testing began in 2024 and the focus of UCMR5 is on 29 separate Per- and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) compounds. All contaminants were not detected. If you are interested in examining the results, please contact us at chammons@mooresvillenc.gov.

You can read the full 2024 Drinking Water Quality Report online at MooresvilleNC.gov/CCR. If you have questions about this annual report or concerns about your water, please contact Todd Hammons, Water Treatment Plant Manager, at 704-662-3186.
