Ouray City Code
Sections 12-1-C and 12-1-D

C. An owner or association may elect to opt out of the City's Refuse Collection Service charge if the property meets any of the following requirements:

1. When a single building structure consists of both residential and commercial uses and is owned by one (1) owner;
2. Seven or less multifamily residences within the same building structure owned by the same owner; or
3. Seven or less multifamily residences owned by different owners within the same building structure in which the common elements, as the term is defined under the Colorado Common Interest Ownership Act, of the structure are owned and managed by a homeowners or unit owners' association.

D. For any of the three exemptions described in Subsection 12-1-C, the owner or association must elect to opt out of City's Refuse Collection Service in writing to the City Clerk on a form prescribed by the City. Such election must contain the following:

1. An adequate description of the property.
2. Beginning July 1, 2013, any election by an owner or association must be received by the City Clerk by the 15th day of the month preceding the month the owner or association desires the election to take effect.
3. The election by the owner or association will remain in effect until the owner or association otherwise notifies the City Clerk in writing, which beginning July 1, 2013 shall be done by the 15th day of the month preceding the month the owner or association desires the election to be terminated.
4. Any property owner or association that has elected out of the City's Refuse Collection Service must obtain adequate refuse collection service in order to comply with this Chapter.
