To: People with heart or lung disease, older adults, children, and teens – take these steps to reduce your exposure:

- Avoid strenuous outdoor activities.
- Keep outdoor activities short.
- Consider moving physical activities indoors or rescheduling them.

Everyone else – take these steps to reduce your exposure:

- Choose less strenuous activities (like walking instead of running) so you don't breathe as hard.
- Shorten the amount of time you are active outdoors.
- Be active outdoors when air quality is better.

Re: Unhealthy Air Quality Advisory

Pierce County is currently part of a multi-day air quality advisory due to another round of smoke from Canadian wildfires. The current advisory is in effect through noon on Thursday, June 29. The most significant air quality and health impacts are anticipated between noon on Tuesday, June 27, and noon on Wednesday, June 28. As of this afternoon, the entire Western Region of Wisconsin has reached red, unhealthy levels.

This is a dynamic situation, and conditions may change rapidly over the next few days. It is important to pay close attention to the air quality in your area and take action, especially if you don't feel well. Visit <https://www.airnow.gov/> for your current air quality.
