Treats, not tricks: Keep Halloween in Safe Hands- Your Family's

*Safe 'n' Sound
Trick or Treating*

Start by taking your kids, not sending them.

Add to the fun by including other families.

Find a "family-friendly" neighborhood (even if you must drive there).

Escort young children to the door; instruct them never to enter a house.

Have children use the "buddy system" – pick a partner and stick together

Avoid close encounters with candles-in and out of jack-o-lanterns

Light your way by remembering to take flashlights.

Leave dark houses behind: no porch light, trick-or-treaters are not welcome.

Observe safety sense: cross streets at intersections after looking both ways.

Wear comfortable costumes that don't obstruct vision: use reflector tape.

Educate your children about "stranger danger" in age appropriate ways.

Equip yourselves with cell phones or walkie-talkies.

Nibble candy at home after a thorough checking by parents.
