Santa Fe Springs Planning Department

It's National Community Planning Month Photo Contest Time!

Each year, during the month of October, the American Planning Association, its members, chapters, divisions, and professional institutes sponsor National Community Planning Month to highlight the importance of planners across all communities in the United States. To celebrate the month of October as National Community Planning Month, the Planning and Development Department will once again host its Annual Photo Contest. The department invites those who live, work, or attend school in the City to submit a high-resolution photograph that depicts the City's vibrancy, vitality, and livability. In previous years, we asked participants to capture their favorite place or location in the City, but this year we decided to try something different. This year, we ask participants to take a photograph that pertains to 1 of these 3 categories: a City Location, City Event, or City Public Art.

The photo contest begins on September 1st and will end on October 31st. Staff will review all entries received to verify and select the photographs that meet all rules and submittal requirements (i.e. submission agreement and photo release forms). Since photos may fall into more than one category, it is important to note that each photo may only be submitted to a single category, and only one submission per individual will be accepted. The top entry from each category will receive a monetary prize of $125, a feature in a future "All Things Santa Fe Springs" guide, a mention on the City's social media channels, and be displayed at the City Library and the 2024 Santa Fe Springs Art Fest. To be featured on promotional materials, it is important that you take a high-resolution photograph. There are numerous resources on the internet to determine the best resolution for your photograph, including <https://www.dotphoto.com/article/91319-what-is-the-best-resolution-for-my-photos-wall-art-and-posters>.

For more information on the photo contest, we encourage you to follow the City's social media accounts. Check out the City's newly updated website at http://www.santafesprings.org/departments/planning\_and\_development\_department/national\_community\_planning\_month.php, and/or stop by the Planning Department counter at City Hall, 11710 Telegraph Road. You are also welcome to stop by to say hello and learn about what your planners are doing for the City of Santa Fe Springs. We look forward to seeing your submissions this fall!

Family & Youth Intervention Program

The Family and Youth Intervention Team understands that parent involvement is the key to behavior change among behaviorally challenged adolescents. The Parent Project is a parent training program designed for parents experiencing behavioral challenges with their adolescent(s). Throughout the program, parents will be introduced to discussion topics which include reducing family conflict and arguing, improving school performance and attendance, identifying and intervening with alcohol and other drug abuse, interceding with negative peer associations (including inappropriate dating relationships up to and including gang involvement) and helping parents to set effective applicable limits.

Many parents attending the Parent Project have experienced difficulty in identifying appropriate limits and enforcing consequences consistently. Those who attend the Parent Project are more likely to see their child's attendance at school improve, and to require less school based disciplinary resources as parents find powerful interventions at home which help bring about positive change in their children.

The motto of the Parent Project is "Parents are the answer... when they have the tools they need." This program is presented three times per year. For more information, please contact the Family and Youth Intervention Program at (562) 929-7431 or preregister at www.parentproject.com. The next 10-week series begins October 10 at the Betty Wilson Center, located at 11641 Florence Avenue.
